Northfield Township
Human Services Review Commission
Mission Statement

The mission of the Human Services Review Commission is to assess the applications of social service agencies that seek funding from Northfield Township and make allocation recommendations to the township Board of Trustees. Commissioners give priority to agencies which serve the most pressing and basic needs of residents such as behavioral health, shelter and safety, substance abuse and youth services. Additionally, Commissioners consider agencies that present solutions to the developing needs of residents that occur due to changing demographics and economic situations. When available needs surveys done by other groups are considered when determining what social service needs are not being fully met within the township.
